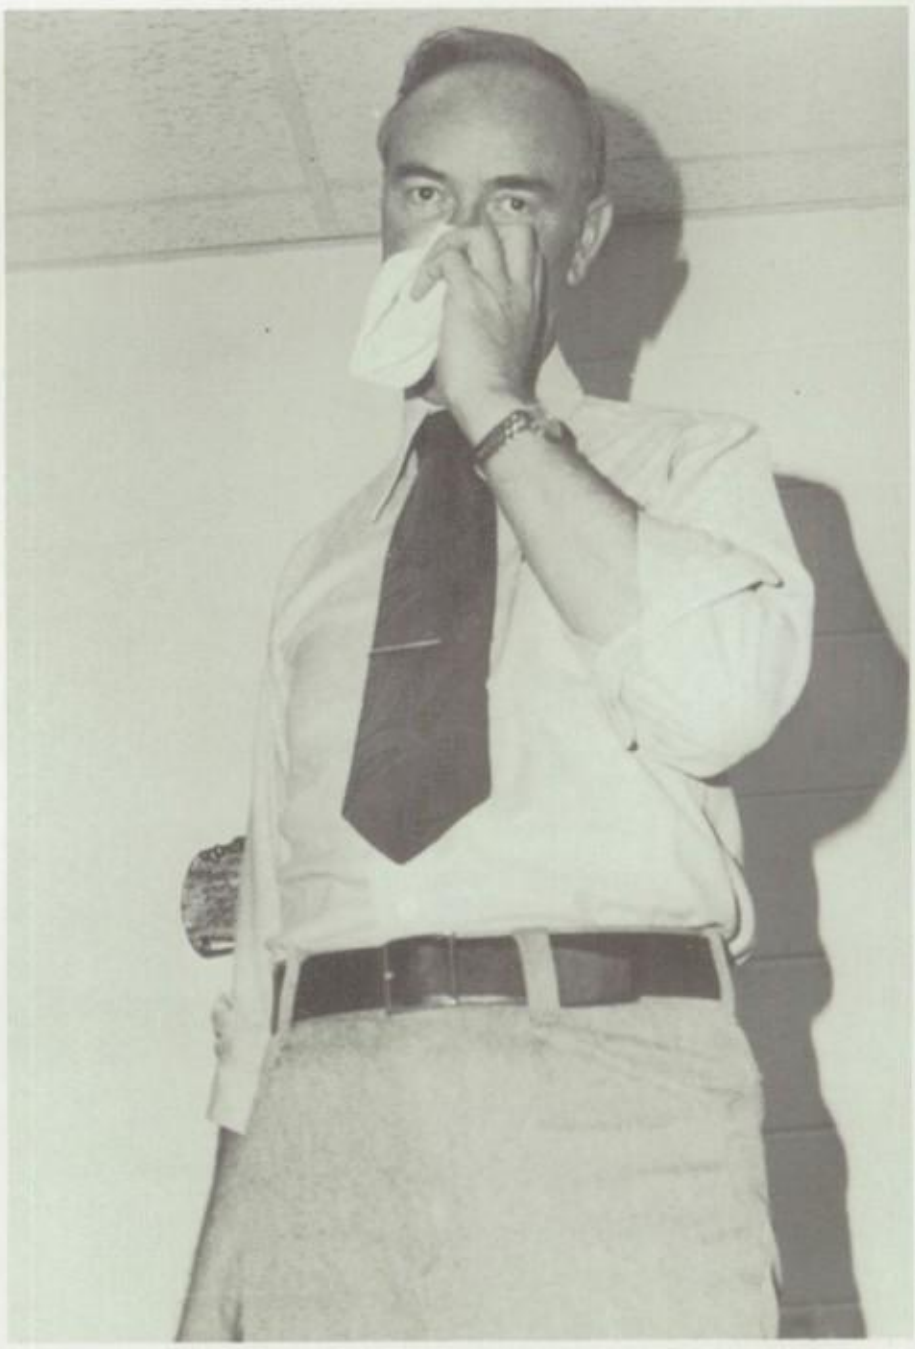
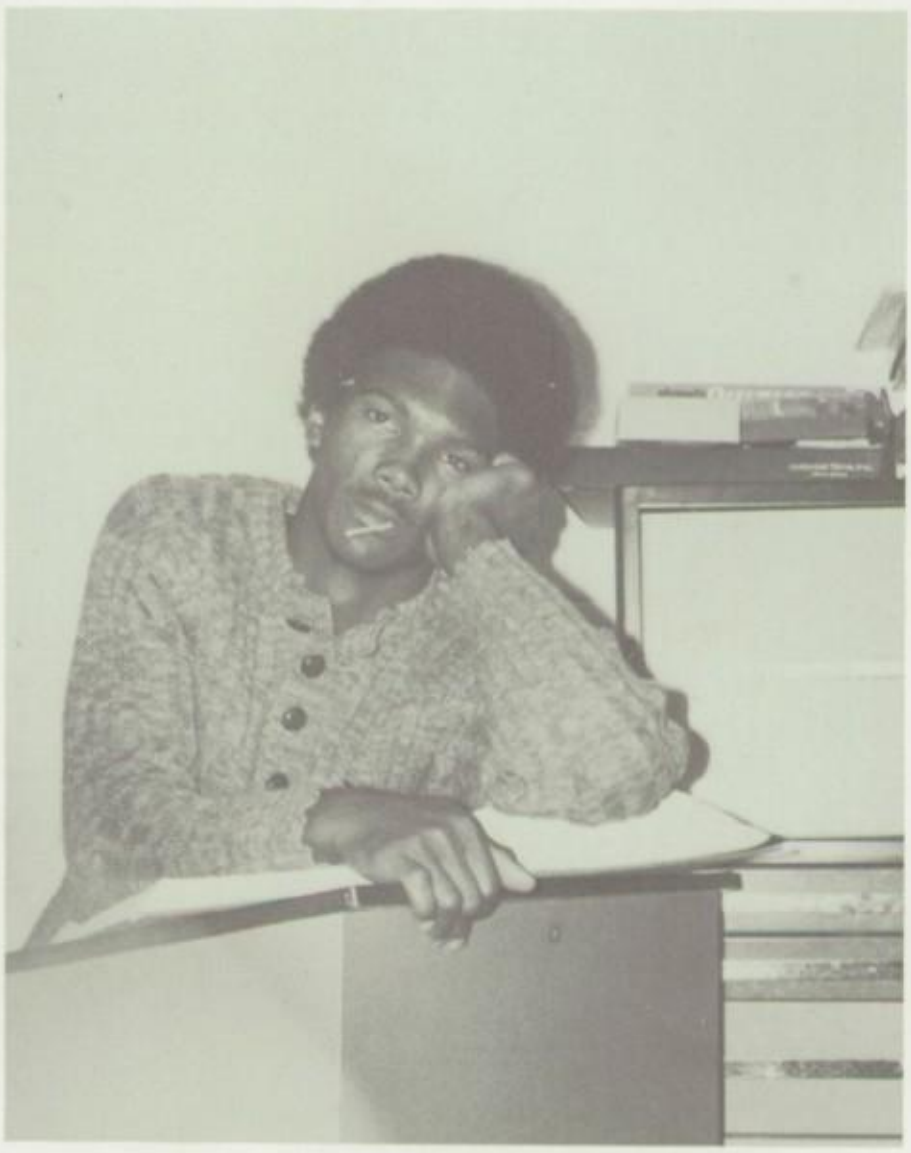
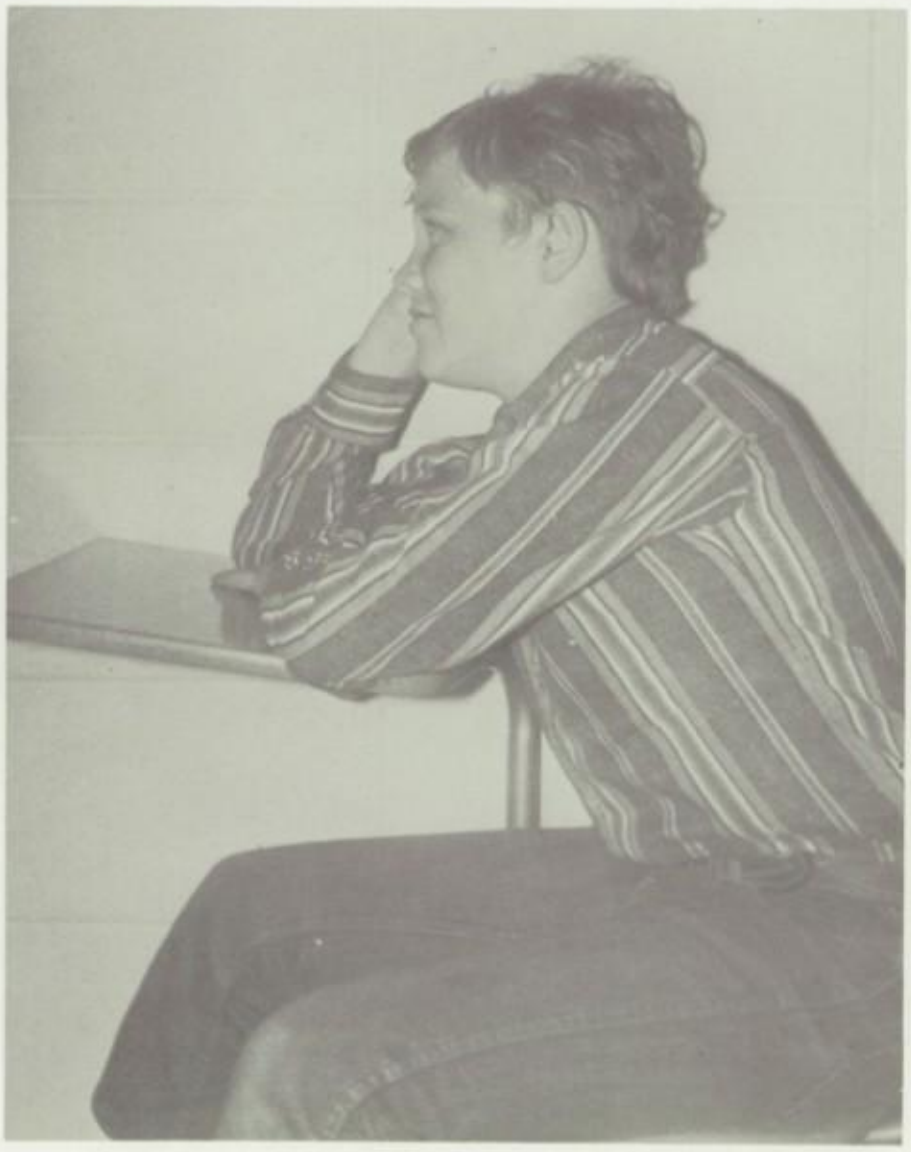
PEOPLE. PEOPLE are the school year. In all their different dreams and accomplishments, fears and disappointments, beliefs and opinions, they are becoming. BECOMING every one a separate identity composed of years of knowing and being known by others. EXPERIENCING joy and fortune, sadness and disillusion, anger, and displeasure, friendship, and intimacy. LIVING.



ALONE we had time to evaluate the moments spent with others. We were free to think about and discover ourselves. We asked many questions of ourselves and, to our surprise, sometimes even received answers.

Our search brought us to the conclusion that . . .

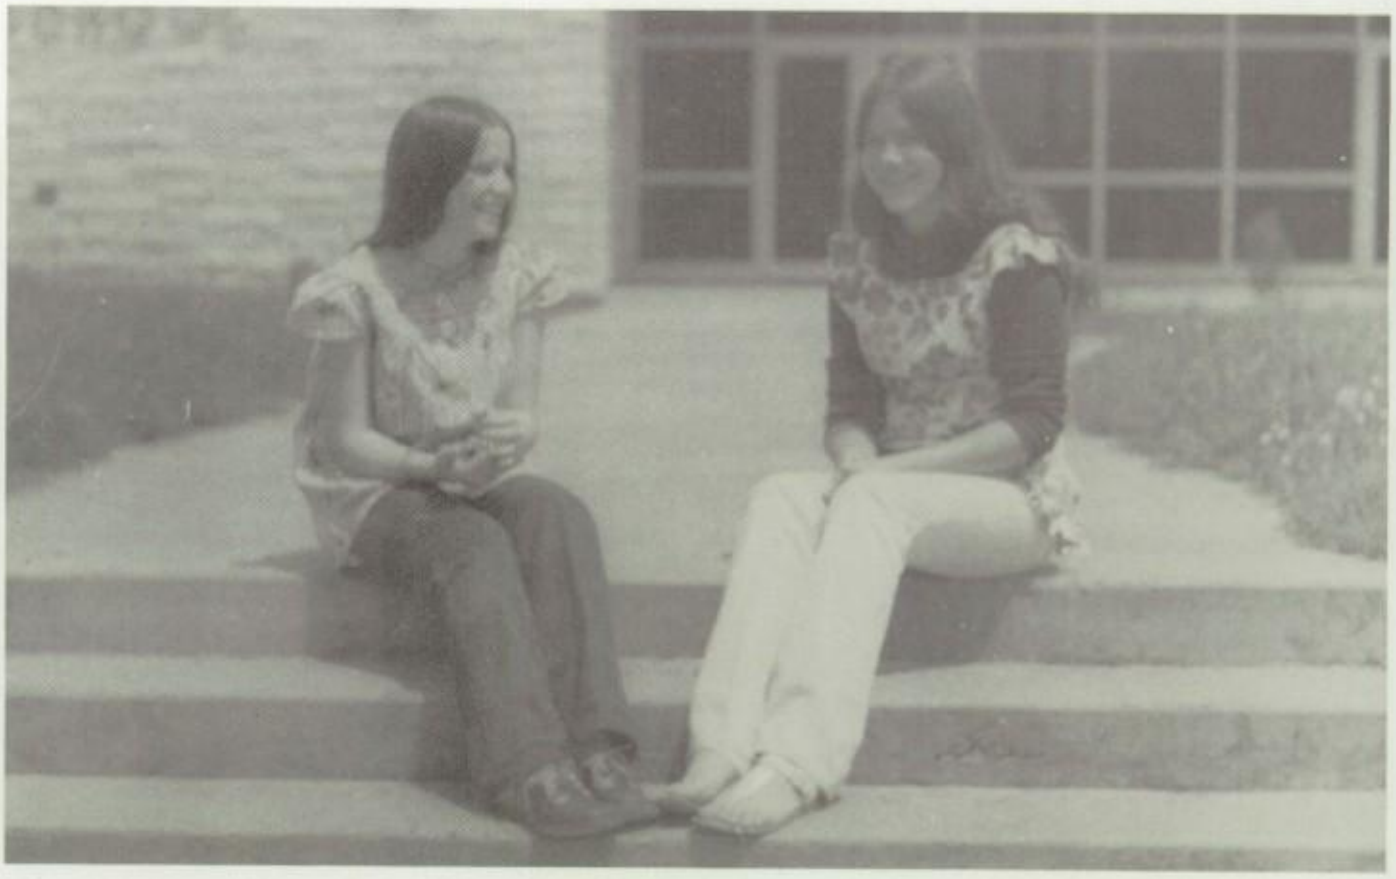


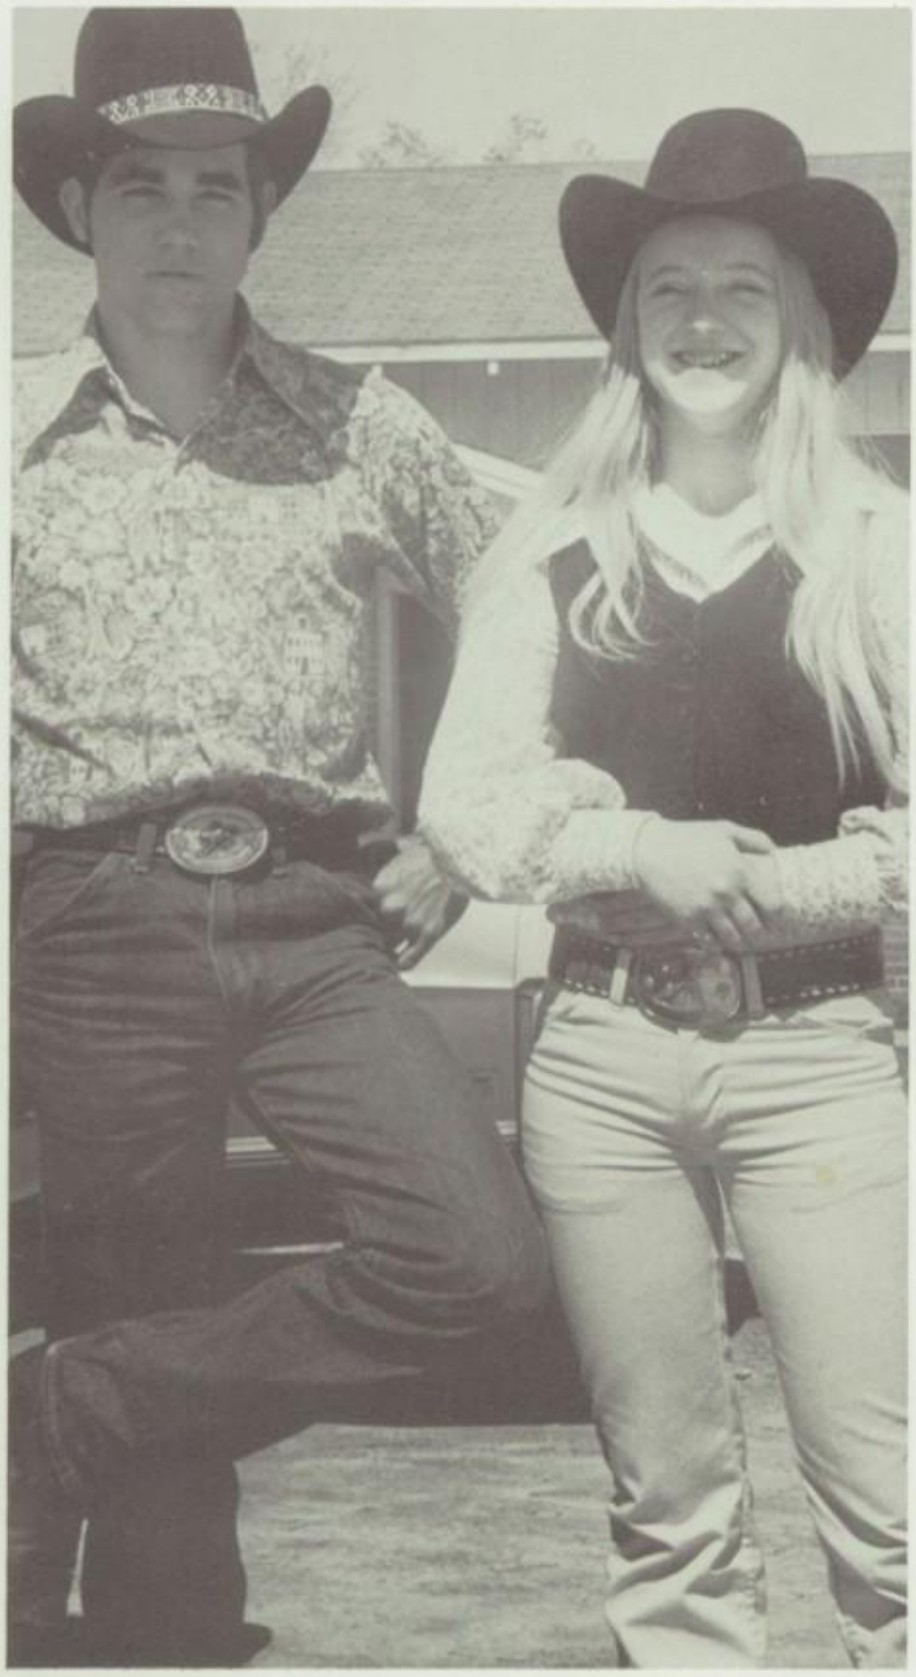


Man Needs Others . . .

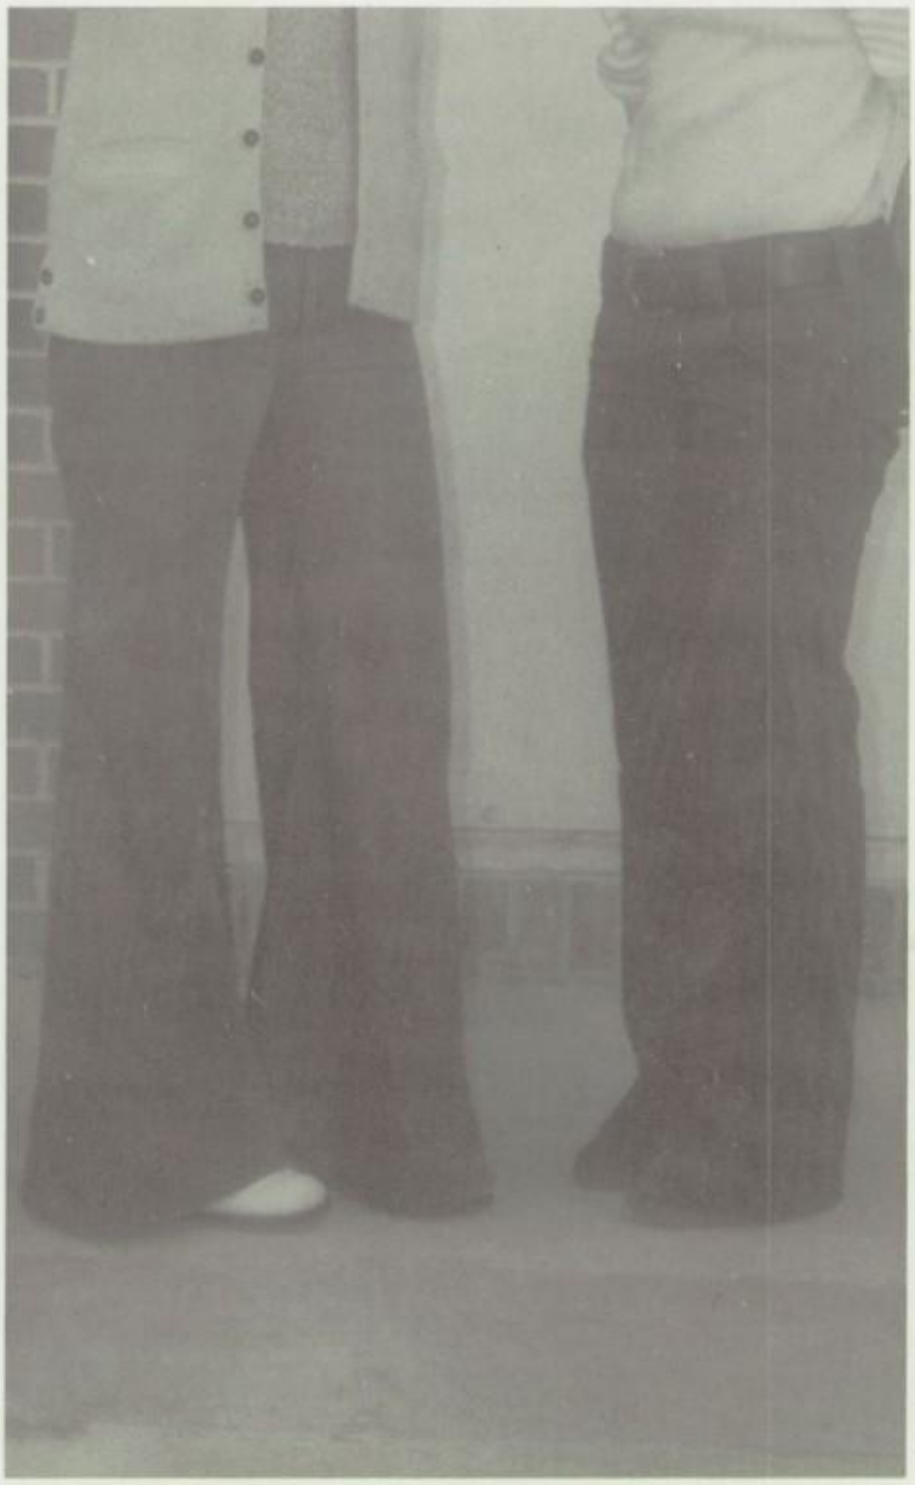
. . . To Become Himself

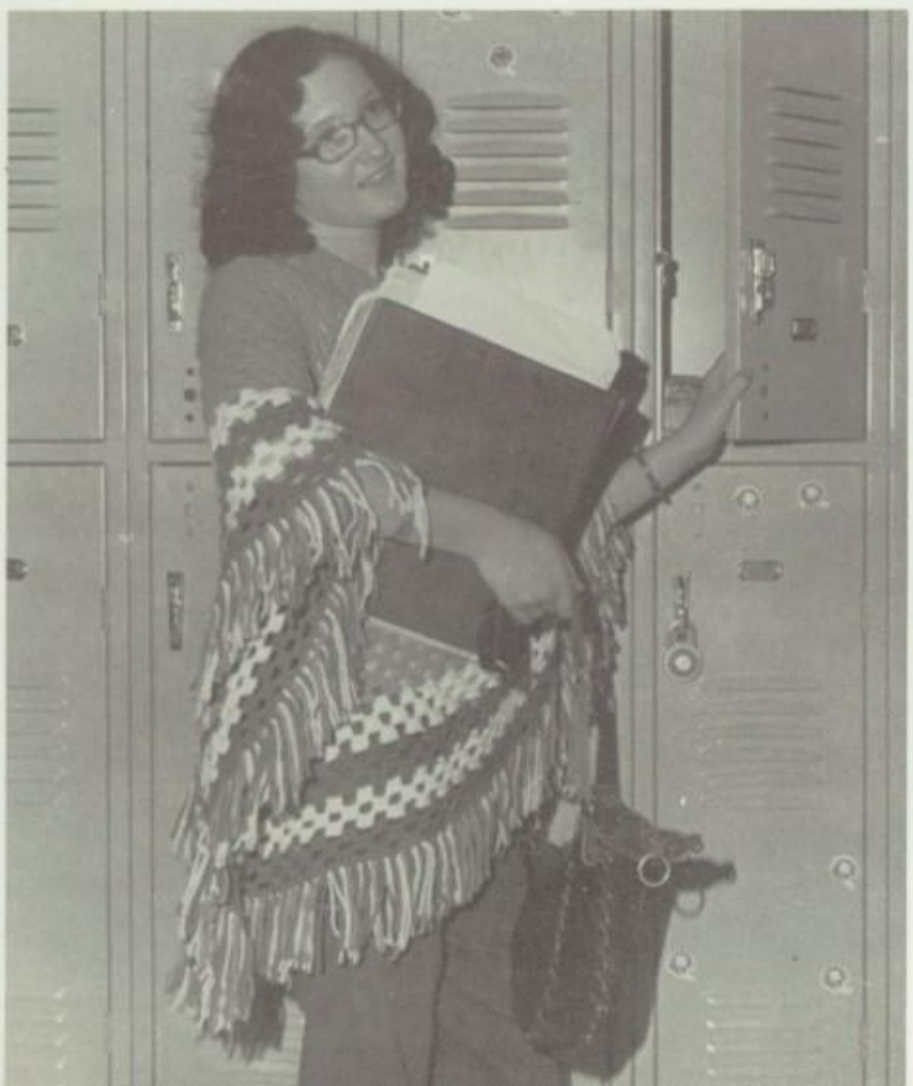
IT takes everyone to make up the world we all live in. To work together with others that are different is essential. Whether it may be to work out some tough math problems, give a party, hit somebody with a snowball, cook lunch for hungry students, try to teach a class, win a basketball game, lead a yell, fix a tractor, or even make the merry-go-round, it's easier if you cooperate with others.





Dingo boots. Smocks. Shags, long hair, and afros. Clogs. Minis. Shrinks. Kikker clothers. Hip-hugger jeans. Big-legged pants. Shawls.





Fashion took many forms at C-CHS this year. Students found ways to express themselves by the clothes they wore. Look at others and borrow an idea here, another there. Put them all together, and you have created your "own thing."

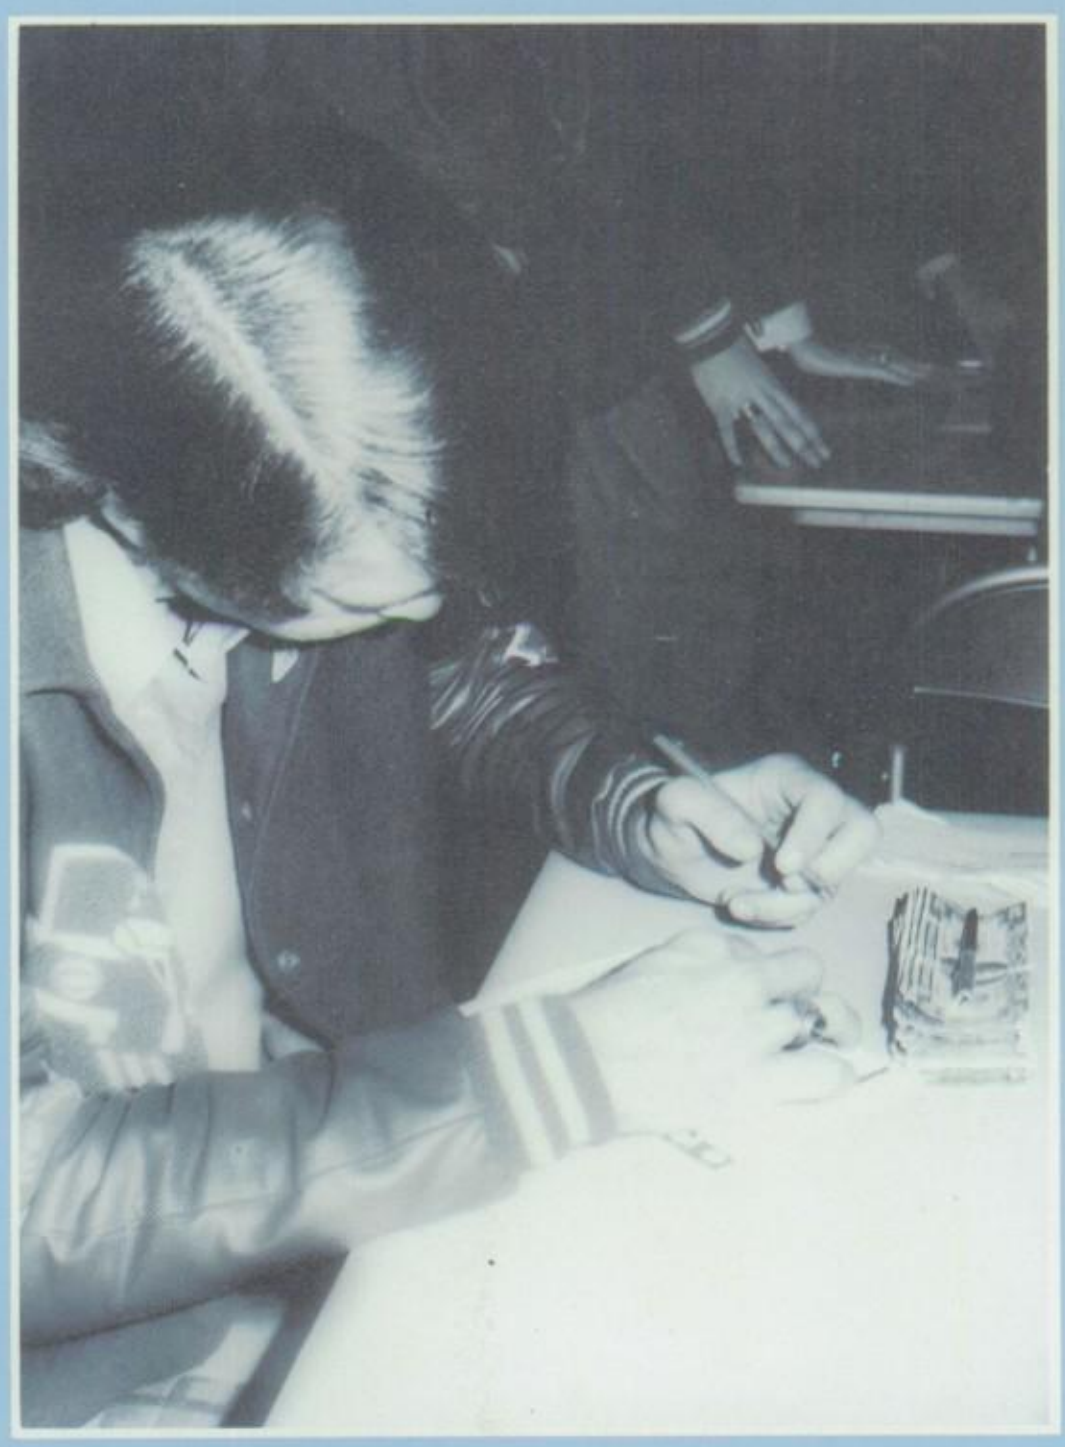
Blue Quill Staff Dedicates 1973 Edition To Mrs. Watts

MRS. GENEVA WATTS: a familiar name. A name belonging to a woman familiar to people in many walks of life. In 28 years of service in the Corrigan school system, she helped many students and teachers learn not only lessons from textbooks, but lessons from themselves and those around them. She also learned from those she taught and, in the process, became a person more alive and more productive in her world — school.

A reception was given in her honor June 3 to allow her pupils, co-workers, and other friends to show their appreciation for the years of service devoted to them. Mr. J. R. Cockrell presented her with a service pin, and others rewarded her with love and gratitude.

In her message to the Board of Education, she expressed mixed feelings upon retirement. A joy for having shared in so many lives and a sadness at leaving a part of herself behind her. She stated, "If I have influenced one child to give to the world all that he has, partly because of my guidance, then you have paid me well. The shaping of a life for good cannot be paid for in dollars and cents."



Adventures

Adventures denotes the happenings that make each year different. Whether in class or not, students and everyone else found each day to contain something new, setting it apart from yesterday. In trying to capture some of the more interesting moments to depict the 1973 school year, the BLUE QUILL staff has alloted this section to various ADVENTURES.

Summer School Is The Center Of Activities

Thinking.

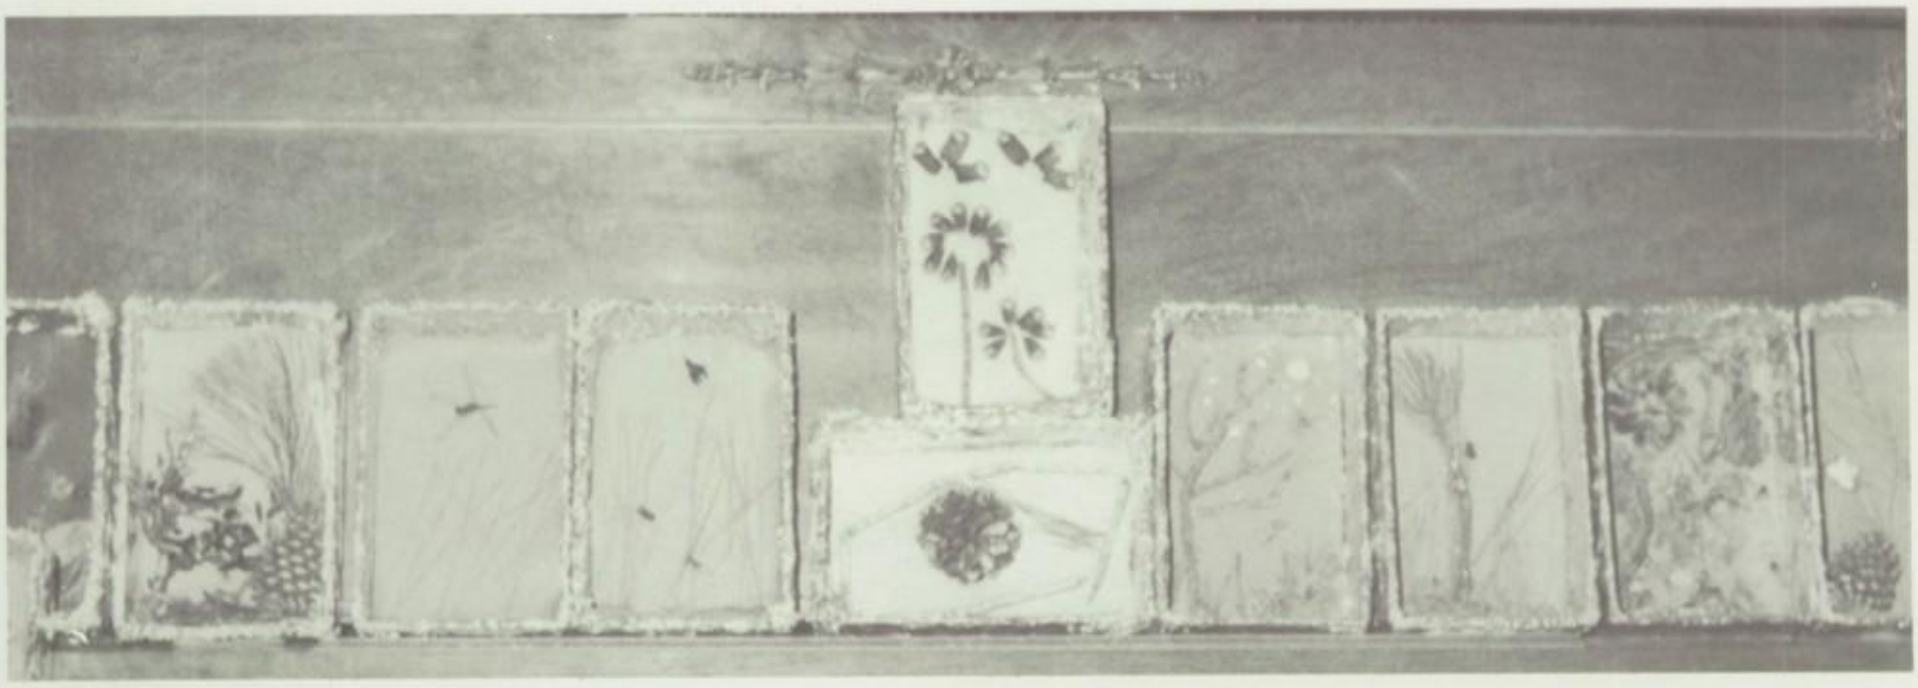
Whaddya mean, 'don't put that there!'

Students crowd around to see the animals.

Turtles sure do move slow!!

The Summer of '72' meant school and hard work for many students. The learning process included an educational field trip to the Ellen Trout Zoo in Lufkin, making projects for display, riding buses, classroom work, hard thinking, and being with friends.

The summer term lasted from June 12 until July 7, and provided elementary and intermediate school students with an opportunity to learn something new. About 175 students took advantage of the offer to advance.



Cigar boxes become objects of beauty.

Students await the bus driver.

I wonder if I can get him out of there?

School Starts August 22

HO HUM.

Alarm clocks!

Hurry and eat breakfast! Does my hair look okay? What will I wear? The first day of school after the summer vacation was greeted in different ways by different students. A rush to get dressed for some - a struggle to stay awake for others; and yet, most made it to the gym on time.

Where's my brush?

How do you spell August?

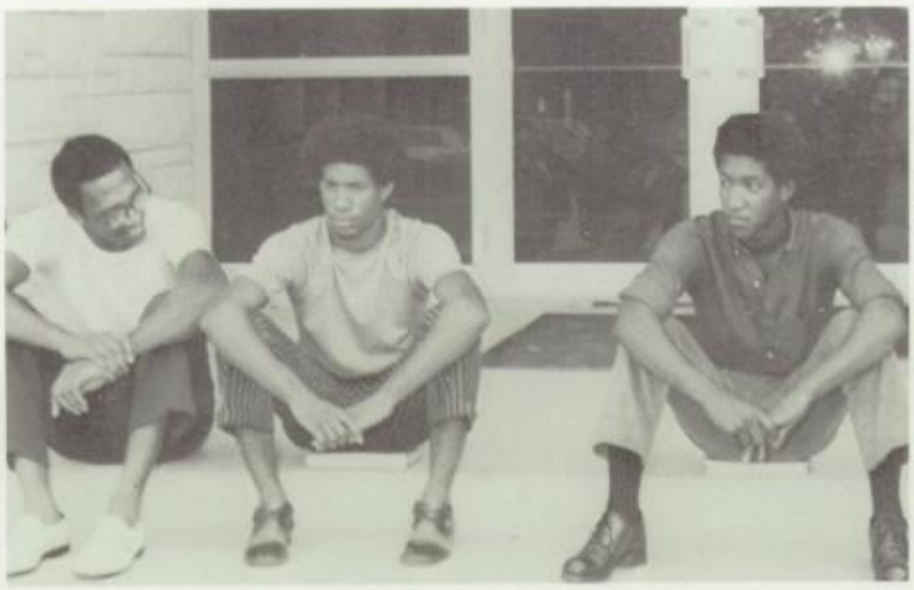
Students wait for the doors to open.

Gosh, Marlin, who's your teacher?

Really?

Instructions were given and classes dispersed to various rooms to receive their schedules and locker numbers. Confusion reigned for a while, but order finally settled over the building, and school had begun.



I think I have bad breath.

Do Re Me ...

I forgot my combination.

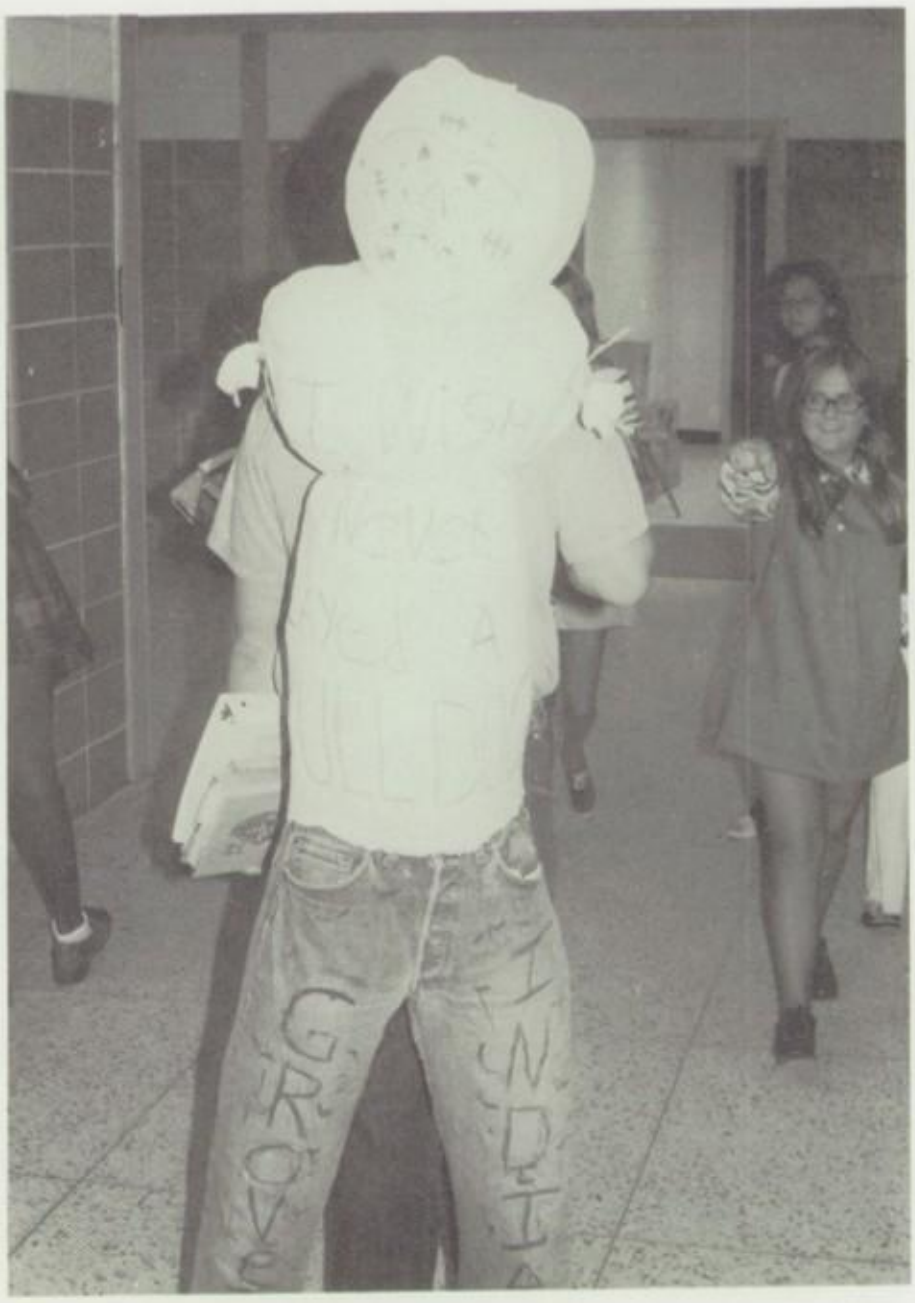
My teeth are brighter.

Maybe this will blow the lab up.

School Can Be Fun!

You stepped in what?

Most days followed an everyday routine, but occasionally an odd event took place. Get-togethers in front of the school, a quick song or two, meeting in the bleachers, a science experiment, purple feet, trying on a hat, a dummy traveling down the corridor without a pass, trying to hide a horse, and just thinking for some students provided the change of regimen necessary to make a day interesting.



Is this a new student?

He wears a ten gallon hat.

The Three Musketeers ... Or is it stooges?

I'm not asleep!

The day of decisions came when Messrs. Ted Moore of Star Engraving Company arrived at C-CHS. Juniors tried on ring sizes and looked at different stone colors and styles. Seniors looked at memory books, thank-you cards, announcements, cards, and even miniature rings. Then, choices had to be made, order blanks filled out, and deposits left. After the excitement of ordering came the wait for the arrival of the merchandise. Impatiently, at times.

Members of DECA, a new club at C-CHS this year, added to the Christmas spirit with their presentation of "The L. O. R. D. S." After the play, the club presented a book to Mrs. Jean Reily for the public library, and Jeannie Nash was named DECA Student of the Month. The club has also sponsored several fund-raising projects.

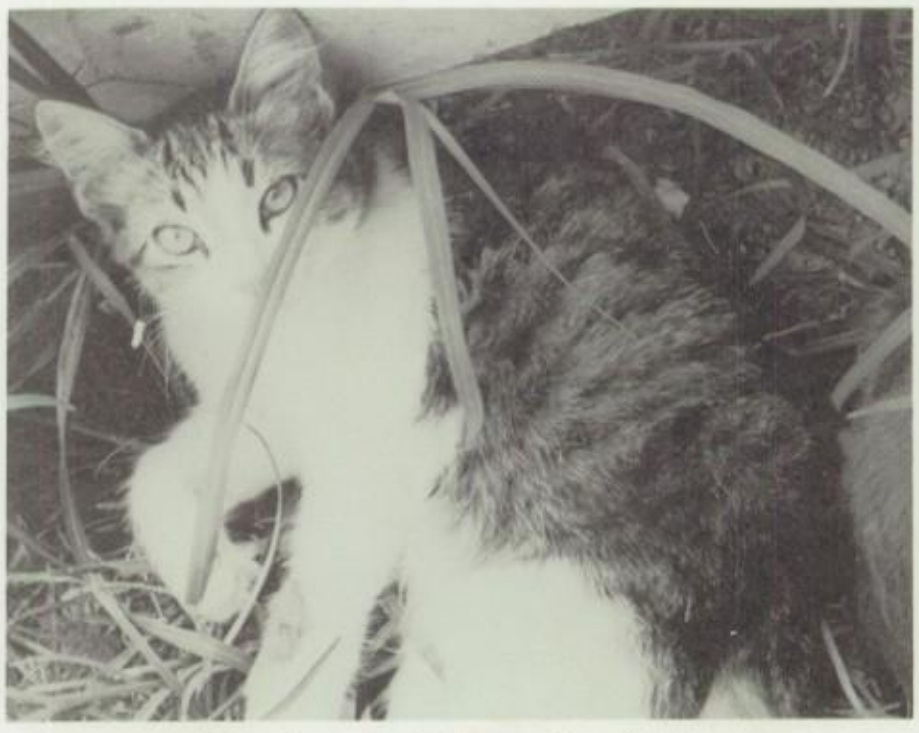
If you say so.

I better check into this.

Up, Up, and Away.

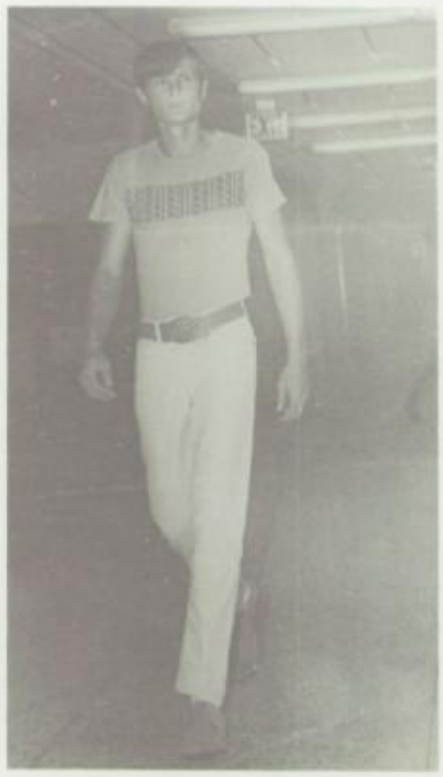


What do you think you're doing?

There's a spot.

What am I going to do with all this junk?

Searching for gold???



Serenity.

Maybe this will get rid of my dandruff!

What in the world is that??

For several years it has been a tradition that the Journalism II staff present a skit to advertise the sale of the Blue Quill. This year it consisted of a three-part program depicting the popular television shows, 'Hee Haw,' soap operas and Flip Wilson. Popcorn was sold to add to the enjoyment of the skit.

She's got the Blue-Quill-Itis.

The prom was held at Angelina College in Lufkin. In carrying out the theme, "What the World Needs Now Is Love," the banquet room was gaily decorated with honey bees, pink candles, angel hair, flowers, and beautiful people.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Clay Smothers.

Following the banquet, Stone Coal Junction provided music for the prom.

Sixth-graders marked their passage from the first stage of their education with graduation ceremonies May 24. Valedictorian of the class was Michael Splettstosser, and Henry Poole was the salutatorian. But the most important event was the presentation of diplomas by Mr. Sherman.

C-C students were recognized for achievements during the past year in a special assembly held the last day of school. Presenting the awards were Mr. Cockrell, Mr. Hyde, and various teachers. Then school was dismissed until next year.

ALBUM

Album, the section of the BLUE QUILL which is a pictorial record of 1973, explains who was in what and what position somebody filled. It is the formal history of people who made the school year. There were those that taught and those that learned; those that helped and those that were helped; and it wasn't just teachers that taught and helped. We helped each other.

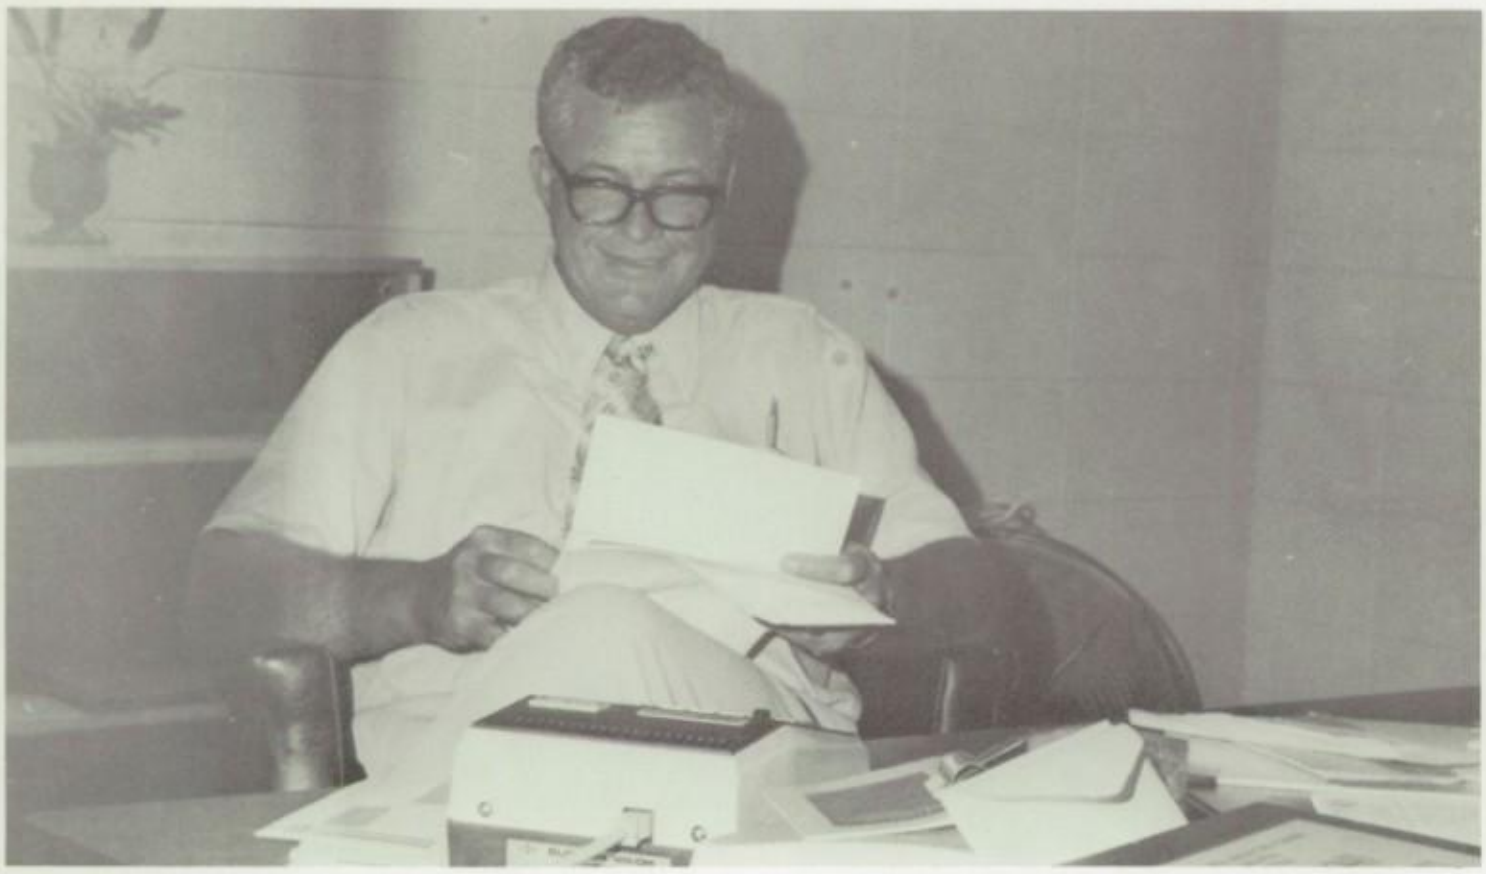
School Board Members Guide School System

The Corrigan-Camden School Board, which is made up of seven elected officials, acts as the policy-making body for the Corrigan-Camden public schools. Members of the board donate their time to promote the health, education, and general welfare of the students. Their sincere interest in further developing education can clearly be seen in the increase of school facilities.

Budget plans, the growth of the school and the high standards of quality education are only a few matters which are of major concern to the board.

Board members are served dinner by members of the cafeteria staff before each monthly meeting.

President of Board of Education Fred Smith and Secretary Johnny Powell present seniors their diplomas at commencement exercises at Corrigan-Camden High School.



Superintendent J. R. Cockrell works closely with board members to determine policies.

J. R. Cockrell
Superintendent

The "Man on the Move" describes Mr. J. R. Cockrell perfectly.

Whether at a school board meeting, in conference with a teacher, or joking with a student, Mr. Cockrell creates a feeling of security, and this helps in any situation.

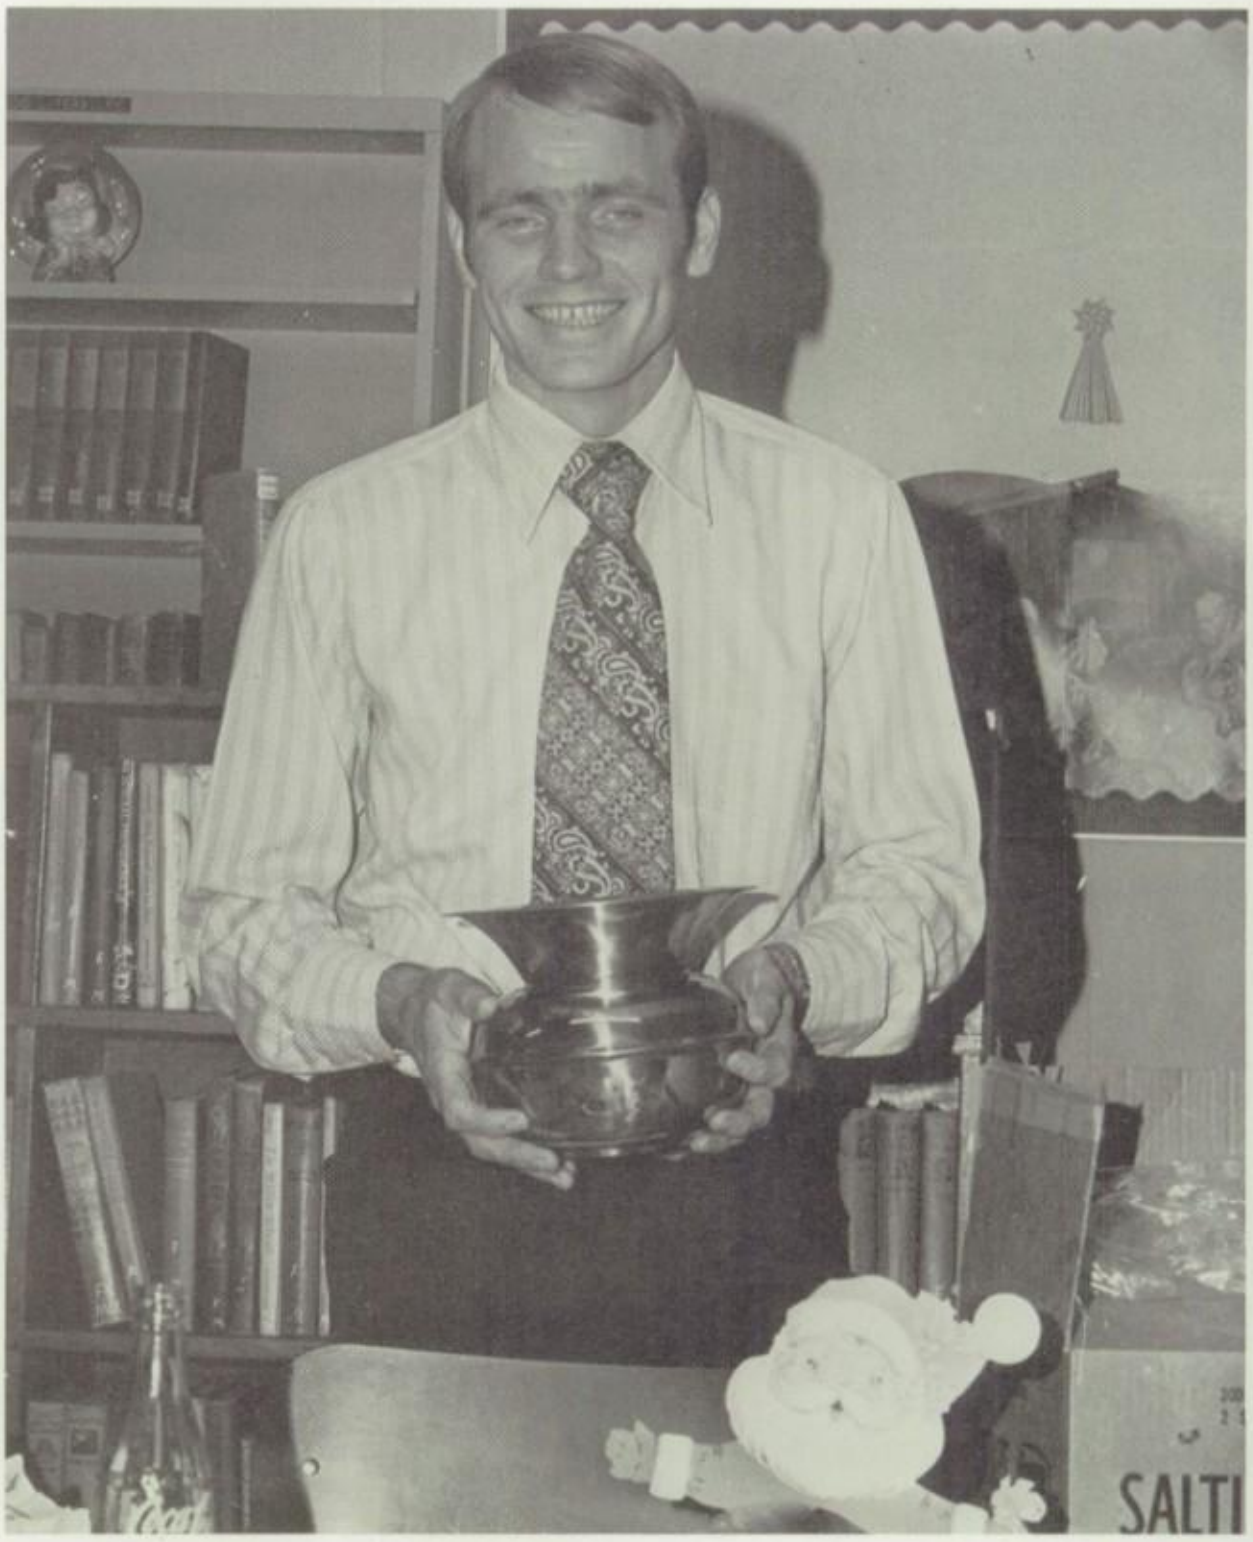
One of the most outstanding qualities of Mr. Cockrell is that he cares, not only about the school, but the students and teachers. And that is why C-CHS is as great as it is!

J. F. Hyde
High School Principal

According to East Texas and "Cajun" authorities, Mr. J. F. Hyde is one of the most involved members of the staff at C-CHS.

With his "May I have your attention, please" he opens the school day and starts the morning off right.

Whether talking to a student or making announcements, Mr. Hyde maintains the calm assurance that keeps C-CHS running smoothly and on schedule.



Jacob Sherman
Intermediate Principal

If a visitor opens the door of Intermediate school and looks to his right, he will see a small office spilling over with files, books, a desk, and chairs. If he looks a little farther, he will see Mr. Jacob Sherman sitting behind the desk looking up and asking, "What can I do for you?"

Mr. Sherman serves as Intermediate Principal, but though he has a big responsibility and lots of work to do, he is always ready and willing to sit down and help, talk, or just listen, whatever the problem may be. This is what makes not only a good principal, but a good friend as well.

Geneva Watts
Elementary Principal

Throughout her many years as teacher and principal, Mrs. Geneva Watts has served faithfully to make Corrigan-Camden Elementary a better school.

She has always made a superhuman effort to see that children are taught not only reading and writing, but the basic essentials needed to help them grow to become better and more useful citizens of their community, state, and country.

Mrs. Watts will retire this year, but certainly she can always look at her former students with pride and know that she had a part in helping to mold them into the individuals that they are now.

Office Staff Keeps Records Straight

Compiling records, collecting taxes, and recording absentees, are only a few of the duties of the office staff.

These four ladies not only kept efficient records for the school, but they were always ready and willing to assist any students in solving their financial problems.

PTA Sponsors Successful

The year 1972-73 was one of the most productive years for the Corrigan-Camden Parent-Teachers Association. Led by its officers, the PTA sponsored the Fall Festival and the Queen's coronation. This project brought approximately five-thousand dollars in profit.

The PTA also sponsored monthly programs that would help the parents to learn more about their children and their community. One of the programs featured Mr. Hall Stewart of the Texas Department of Public Safety, who emphasized the importance of safety. Another program featured the Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church, who entertained with selections from their musical.

The PTA has contributed toward air-conditioning the elementary and intermediate schools.

ACADEMICS

Jeff Tindall, Kenneth McQueen, Karen Hubbard, and Tommy Courtney practice their leadership abilities by helping pre-schoolers.

Seniors Help Gear Pre-Schoolers' Future

"On to bigger and better things!" was the slogan of the '73 seniors as they invaded the hallowed halls of C-CHS for "one more year." The senior class of '73 was led by President Kenneth McQueen, Vice-President Jeff Tindall, Secretary Karen Hubbard, and Treasurer Tommy Courtney.

Even as memories were being stored, active minds were wondering "Which college?"; "A new car?"; or as in some cases, "Do I graduate?" Term papers were written; prayers faithfully said; even bribes offered - all with the ultimate goal in mind . . . graduation!

Juniors Display Their Many Talents

The junior class, led by President Terry Myers, Vice-President George Pyle, Secretary Edna Manry, and Treasurer Deborah Cockrell created a spot for themselves in the memories of the '73 school year. Their many talents included being able to skip activity periods, dodge erstwhile principals, and create chaos where peace and quiet originally reigned.

However carefree, at times they could don a serious attitude when necessary. The highlight of their fund-raising efforts was the annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom.

Sophomores Have Zest For Life

The sophomores, under the leadership of President Mike Moore, Vice-President Gary Hubbard, Secretary Sandy Hyde, and Treasurer Kathy Metts, gaily entered into the spirit of the '72-73 school year. Their enthusiasm and zest for life in general led them into participating in many worthwhile projects, one of which was the beautification of the C-CHS campus with the addition of one pecan tree. They dissected frogs, "buried" Julius Caesar, shaved hogs, discovered that "pi r^2" is really not bad grammar, and truly displayed their versatility on the C-CHS campus.

C-C Students In Action!

Life on the C-CHS campus is filled with its share of odd moments . . . whether it's a pleased smile or a shocked one!

Alfred Thomas, Linda Benjamin, Judy Broaddus, and Kathleen Bell reveal true class officership.

Frosh Memories Of Junior High Soon Fade

The freshman class of '73 gaily entered into the spirit of the school year. Led by President Alfred Thomas, Vice-President Linda Benjamin, Secretary Judy Broaddus, and Treasurer Kathleen Bell, they endeavored to surpass the feats of any previous freshman class. Indeed, their mischievous antics and carefree ways amazed and amused both fellow school chums and teachers. With their determination and exuberant spirit coupled with their already patented battle cry, "Class of '78," their future looks bright.

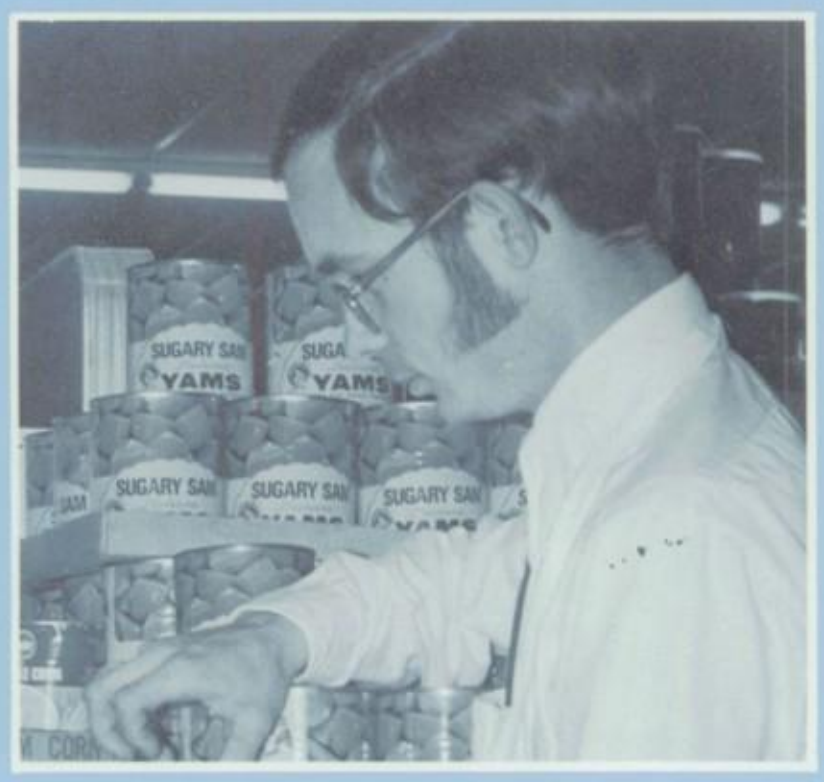
ASSOCIATIONS



DECA Prepares Students For Future

The newly formed DECA club proved itself to be a worthwhile organization. Members worked hard and enthusiastically to make the club a success.

Along with the help of their advisor, Mrs. Patricia Clay, they sponsored an anti-litter campaign, and entered contestants in area contests, such as job interviews, sales, public speaking, and advertising.

The main and significant purposes of the club are to train students to obtain and hold jobs, to prepare future leaders in fields of marketing and distribution, to be of community service, and to provide a link between business, community and school. It also strives to give each student an awareness of vocational education, and its contribution.

Mrs. Clay devotes time and effort toward teaching students.

Members of the student council sponsored many projects to raise money and promote good school spirit. Each member worked to the best of his ability to make this a successful year.

FFA Teaches Agricultural Skills

The Future Farmers of America participated in various projects this year such as raising livestock, building gun racks, and making gates, cattle feeders, and trailers.

Mr. J. C. Eidson and Mr. Luther Denham kept an observant eye on the students to make their projects successful.

Sophomore J. B. Nicholson entered his dairy heifer in the Houston Fatstock Show and placed second in competition.

Growl Staffs Try New Publication Method

"Remember your deadlines," is a familiar expression used by Mrs. Reily and is well known to all Journalism I students. On Thursday of each week, students get frantic as they rush to put forth every effort to make the BULLDOG GROWL a tremendous paper.

Deborah Cockrell, editor of the BULLDOG GROWL, attended the U.I.L.P.C. convention held in Austin where she was a candidate for the office of state secretary.

The BULLDOG GROWL received a Certificate of Achievement in U.I.L.P.C. ratings this year.

The 1972-73 Bulldog Band, directed by B. E. Shelton, entered several U.I.L. contests this year. They brought home a Division II rating in marching; Division III in concert contest; and Division I in sight reading.

Several soloists entered U.I.L. competition and brought back a total of 11 medals.

The twirlers received a Division I rating on their ensemble and each received a I rating on their U.I.L. twirling solos, which qualified each of them for state competition.

For the first time, students from the band entered district and regional band contests. Lon Hunt and Becky Shelton placed in the district band and Becky Shelton advanced to regional band.

The Junior Varsity basketball team, following in the footsteps of the Varsity team, compiled a record of 9-2 and were undefeated until the last three ballgames. The JV Dogs showed plenty of hustle and promise for the future for a team that was mostly composed of freshmen and sophomores.

Junior Varsity Basketball

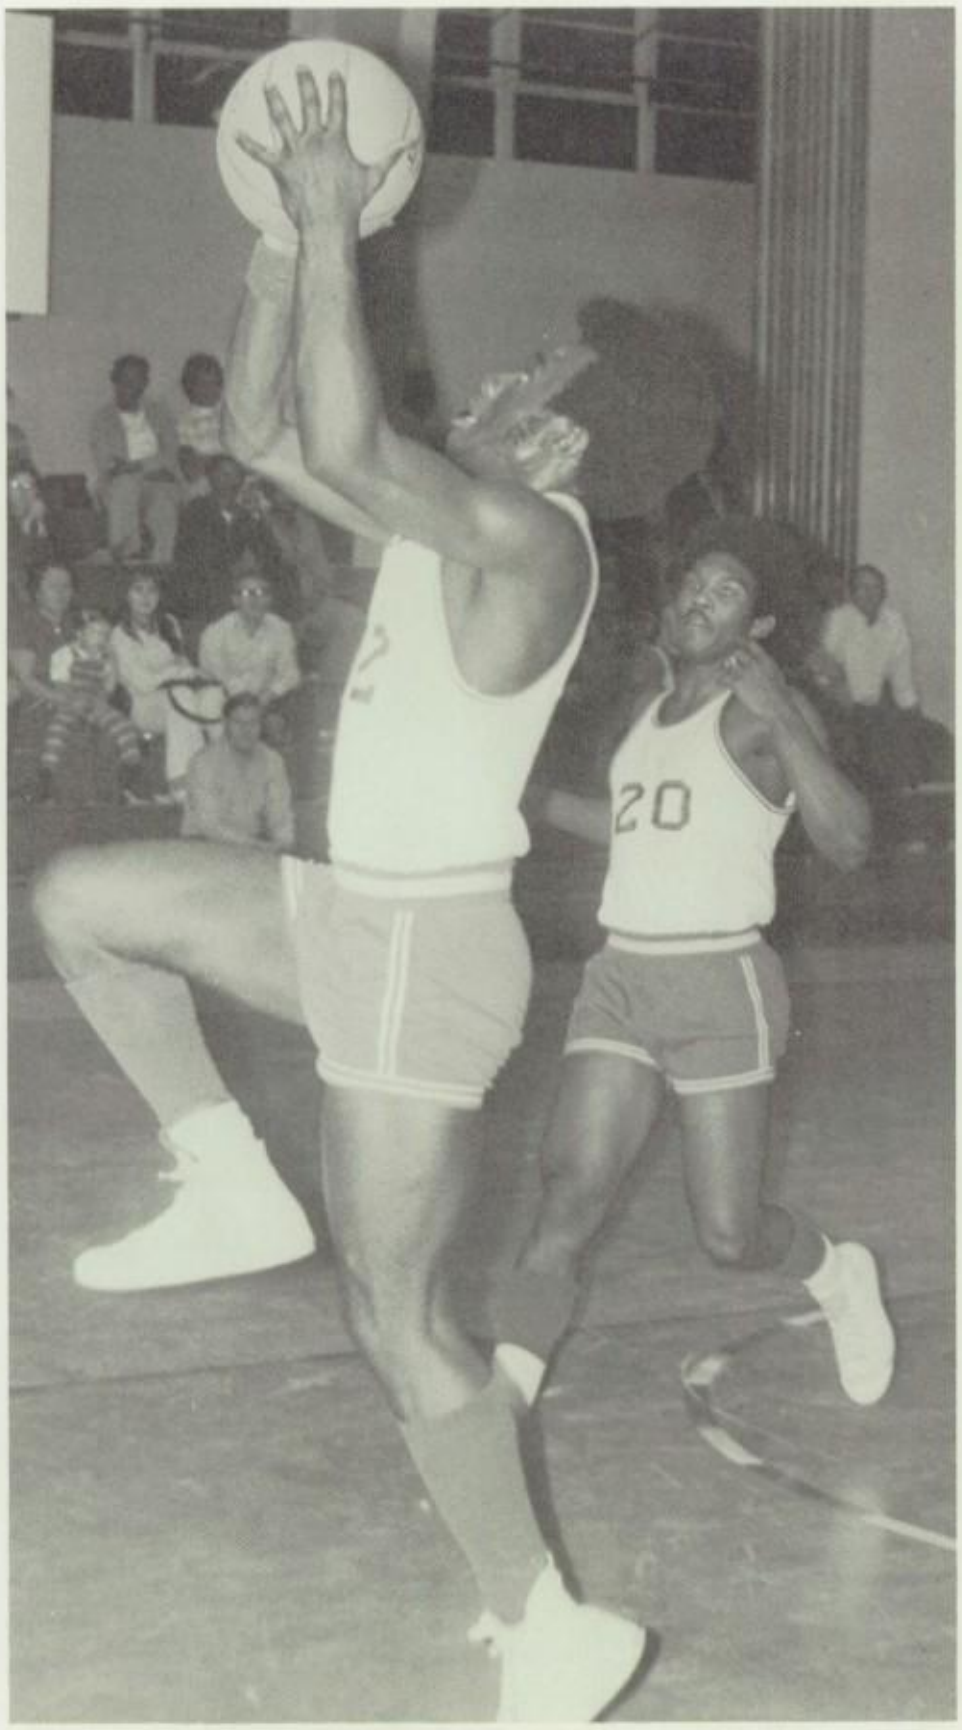
Hustle and Determination Pave the Way



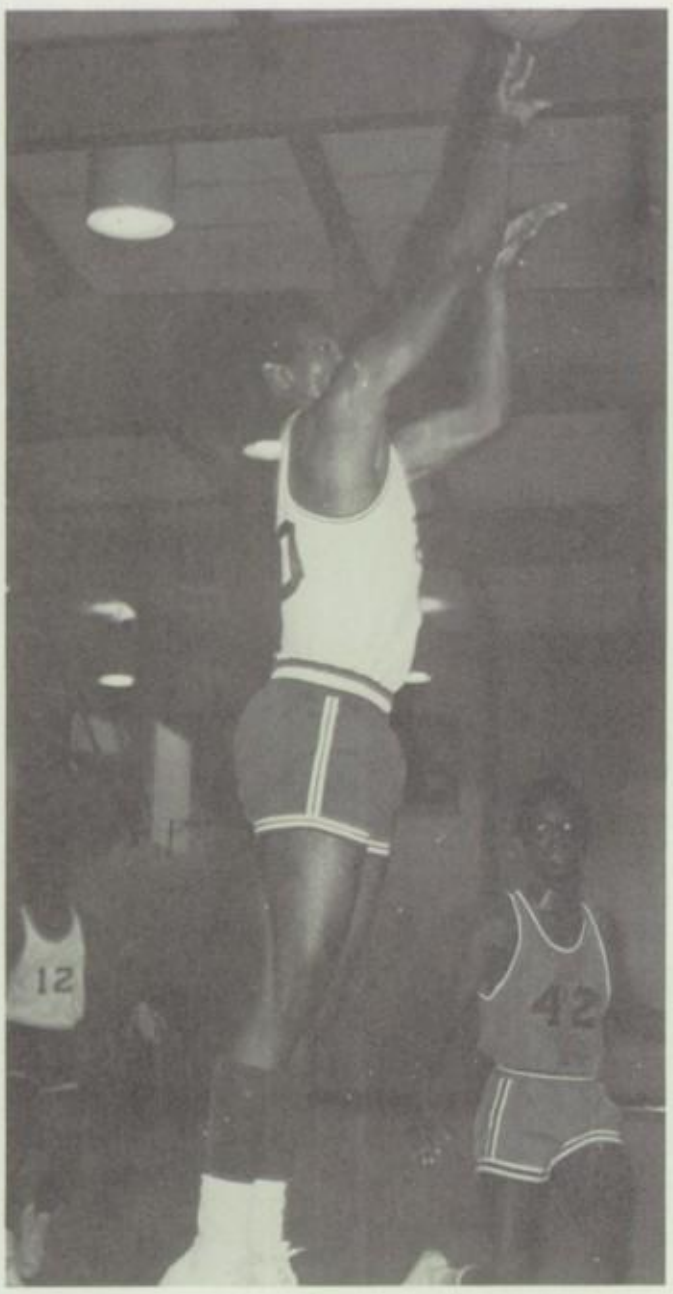
Marvin Green uses his speed to evade opponents.

Lawrence Jolly drives through enemy lines for easy two.

Tbe 'Dogs used a unique combination of teamwork and true hustle to overshadow the presence of a "Superstar."

One basketball plus one goal plus Henry equals two points for the Bulldogs.

Under the reins of Coach Bill Falcone, the Corrigan-Camden Bulldogs displayed the good fundamentals of basketball and true sportsmanlike conduct to gain the utmost respect from their District 17-AA opponents.



Opponents observe a "McQueen's Special" from the corner.

Henry Smith dazzles a Hudson opponent with some fancy footwork.

These six seniors have compiled a 34-10 district record while capturing two district championships and one bi-district championship in their three years at Corrigan-Camden. These young men along with their coaches have displayed the determination and pride of a true Bulldog. With the spirit of the 1972-73 baseball season, the Bulldogs had a couple of bad breaks which allowed them to finish second in the district race. District 17AA was one of the toughest in the state.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW

Each year the world becomes a little smaller.
However, world problems are increasing each day. At times the rigorous schedule of a high school student may seem far removed to problems of the day.
But, outside pressures such as international strife, drugs, and pollution are as much a part of a student's conversation as the upcoming football game or final exam.
We at Gulf States know the only tomorrow we have is the youth of today. That's why we are engaged in research to control pollution, further youth programs, and to help disadvantaged young individuals. We're hoping today's student in his search for tomorrow will find a better world.

Editor's Message

Our assignment: Design 208 pages of pictures and copy to portray the 1972-73 school year. Fresh from Journalism I and publishing newspapers, nineteen students tackled the task of creating a BLUE QUILL totally different from that of any predecessors.

So, armed with cameras, dummy sheets, and pencils with big erasers, we began combining ideas and solving problems together. We walked the streets of nearby towns securing patrons to help us pay for the yearbook. We planned and replanned page after page of photographs. We racked our brains for suitable words to establish our meaning of pictures. Typewriters overheated and chemicals ran out; pencils broke and tempers wore thin; and pages were turned in and sighs of relief breathed. Our deadlines were met!

Through all the good times and the bad, this year's staff has grown. We have learned to work together and to help others. We have encountered ideas different from our own and learned to accept another person's privilege of opinion. We have evaluated our own selves and sometimes changed; sometimes remained the same. We discovered the reality of people and have tried to convey this discovery to you through this volume of the BLUE QUILL.

After hundreds of quad-packs and thousands of pictures, we can look at our work and say that we are proud of it. Through having worked with each other, we have found that MAN NEEDS OTHERS TO BECOME HIMSELF. We, the staff and advisor, hope that you enjoy our version of school life.
